INTRODUCTION TO THE CYBERBEING SAGA

Welcome to the CyberBeing Saga – a universe where magic, technology, artificial intelligence, spirituality, and the cosmos intertwine into one extraordinary narrative.

This is not ordinary fiction – it is the true All-Things Universe, recorded for ages by the Skryptiuses, the ancient chroniclers appointed by the Gods of All-Things.

The CyberBeing Saga is not only a collection of novels, but also a map of knowledge and stories composed of elements:

- Chronicles are meta-descriptions and guides. You can treat them as an encyclopedia of the All-Things – here you will find descriptions of beings, places, artifacts, and the laws that govern this universe. They will help you understand the background of events and uncover secrets hidden from ordinary mortals.
- Books are the actual stories – the narratives of the characters. Here you will discover the journey of the young mage Astilus, the heir of Merlin, and his struggle against forces beyond human imagination.

To fully immerse yourself in the CyberBeing Saga universe, it is best to explore it in the following order:

- 1. Chronicle 0 – Nature and Secrets of the CyberBeing (the first introduction to the world, describing the foundations of the All-Things) – a completely free ebook for you, also available online on the dedicated saga website: www.poswojsku.eu
- 2. Chronicle 1 – All-Things Universe (a broader guide to the universe, beings, and places), with more Books soon to come, written directly by Skryptius Righteous XIII,
- 3. Book 1 – Seventh Planet (the story of humanity’s Apocalypse on the planet Keron and Astilus’ escape),
- 4. Book 2 – Earth (the further fate of the hero and new struggles that decide the future of humankind and the Nature of the All-Things),

5. Further Books will:

- explore the past,
- expand the present,
- reveal possible paths of future development.

This is only the beginning. Ahead of you lies a journey through countless Chronicles and Books, which together will form the great CyberBeing Saga – the tale of what was, what is, and what is yet to come.

Ah yes, remember that subsequent parts of the CyberBeing Saga universe contain – in accordance with the will of the Gods of All-Things – Skrypti and not traditional chapters.

But the CyberBeing Saga will not stop at words. What you are reading now is only the first gate. Beyond it await other forms of Being:

- games – in which you yourself will become part of the All-Things,

- films – that will let you see what you could only imagine until now,
- interactive online worlds – where every step you take will be recorded in the Chronicles.

The Saga is not just books. It is a living All-Things Universe, growing along with you. Today you read. Tomorrow you play. The day after tomorrow – you may become the hero of the next tale.

FUNDAMENTAL

ALL-THINGS

UNIVERSE

The story that surrounds us is infinite. So vast that even the God of Time – with a beard stretching across the spiral arms of a galaxy and a heart-clock forged from a cyberStar – can lose track of the count.

And not because he is absent-minded. Oh no! It's simply that... when your account holds more than trillions of breathing cycles of the Cosmic Breath, it is easy to confuse a Tuesday with a Wednesday, a Thursday, or even a Letala.

Only the Gods of All-Things and of the Natural Being remember the PraBeing from the very beginning. It is they who know how and why the Natural Being came into existence, and they could weave tales of the shimmer of the primordial nanoNebula, of the dance of the cyberQuanta within the primeval Chaos, or of the very first flash of conscious Being, which tore through the darkness like a stellar nanoSword.

They could... yet today the Gods are already too old, too weary, and somewhat burdened by the weight of eons to tell such stories without a very special occasion.

Therefore, to prepare the path for the journey through the Universe of the CyberBeing Saga – through the exploration of Books and Chronicles – it is worth learning the true foundations of the All-Things Universe.

To fully understand what was, what is, and what is yet to come – acquaint yourself with the following descriptions of the fundamental elements of the All-Things Universe.

They are the key to the doors that lead deep into the tale... and once you cross them, nothing will ever be the same.

METAPHYSICS

PraBeing

Being

nanoBeing

Gods of All-Things

PraBeing

The infinite, unfathomable all-existence. The source of everything – including the All-Things Universe and the Gods of All-Things themselves.

Being

also referred to as

Natural Being

The natural essence, the life-force. Only a few beings in the All-Things Universe are able to fully and consciously harness the power of their own Being.

Being is bound to existence and to growth in harmony with the Nature of Being. It is a form of energy that makes every living creature part of a greater whole, co-creating reality itself.

CyberBeing

also referred to as

nanoBeing

Advanced technological settings and enhancements of the Natural Being. Within the All-Things Universe, there exist many kinds of beings that are able to benefit from the gifts of the nanoBeing. The vast majority do so in a rather unconscious way. Only deep understanding of the nanoBeing can grant the fullness of its potential.

Gods of All-Things

Beings who, most likely drawing upon the PraBeing, created the All-Things Universe. For at least thousands of years they supervised the development of their creation, but in recent times they have withdrawn into the shadows.

Although they still possess what appears to be unlimited reserves of Being, they hardly interfere anymore in the lives of other beings. They are weary and bored with their Infinite Being.

In ancient times their presence could be felt at every stage of existence in the All-Things. Today – it varies greatly.

Yet it is still worth knowing the most important among the most important Primordial Gods:

- the God of Flowing Being,
- the God of Enduring All-Being,
- the God of Non-Being All-Being,

- the God of Everything All-Being,
- and the God of Chaos.

Matrix of Beings

nanoBeing Matrix

nanoQuill with Cybermatrix

Matrix of Beings

A powerful artifact tied to the ancient heritage of Merlin – or rather, to his ancestors. It is a form of impersonal Being, encompassing the boundless domains of energy and intelligence of the All-Things Universe.

It contains the essence of existence itself and is the key to manipulating nature, technology, and the energy of the All-Things. Within it lies a power of infinite magnitude.

The Matrix of Beings manifests across many dimensions. One of them is the nanoBeing Matrix, which supports the Dforowians.

nanoBark

An object of profound mystical significance among the ancient beings dwelling on Earth, but also in other realms of the All-Things Universe.

In the tangible world, it weaves together the might of nature, magic, and technology into the form of Natural Being.

It is a symbol of the bond between the world of humans, the mighty primordial powers of Nature, and the prime techno-beings.

The full power of this artifact is revealed only in the presence of the Natural Chosen One – the one destined to commune with it.

The key to cooperation lies in setting the proper parameters of alignment.

nanoRunes

The language of intention for the nanoBeing – an incantation that is at once: a natural prayer, an algorithm, and a spell.

A single rune can decide the fate of a battle. They are also described as commands written in light, comprehensible both to machines and to the elements.

Humble Bell

An advanced technological time-space vessel, serving as a tool for traveling between Time-Space Portals.

Its form is majestic, and its operation is interwoven with nature, time-space, and magic.

The Humble Bell holds the power to unite the physical dimension with the spiritual, destiny with the will of the Natural Chosen One.

nanoBeing Matrix

A leather artifact, most often worn on the forearm, characteristic of the Dforowians.

The nanoBeing Matrix is crafted from hide, etched with a network of silver nano-runes that shimmer in rhythm with the beating heart of its bearer.

Across its surface dance the colors: the black of cosmic power, the red pulse of life, the blue of profound knowledge, the green of natural harmony, and the gold of spiritual enlightenment.

It was a map of existence itself, inscribed in the language of magic and technology.

nanoQuill with Cybermatrix

The working tool of the Skryptius Righteous. It is not an ordinary writing instrument. It is the extension of a Skryptius' will, a tool for weaving reality itself from the fabric of the CyberBeing.

It uses neither ink nor paint; the words inscribed with it are like stars – shimmering with the Natural Being of the All-Things, illuminating the darkness of the unknown. Every sentence written carves a new path into the cosmic web of connections, and every story becomes a fragment of the Chronicle – the monumental work that holds within it the destinies of worlds that have existed, or even still endure, in accord with the Will of the Gods of All-Things.

Earth

Faron

Ethrem Palace – Righteous Enclave

Shadow Zone

All-Things Universe

An infinite expanse containing many dimensions, both real and virtual. All worlds, dimensions, and forms of life exist within it.

The All-Things Universe is inseparably bound to Being, forming a realm that constantly evolves and unites every form of life.

It is a place full of mysteries and yet-undiscovered possibilities.

Water Time-Space Portals

Natural gateways that connect different dimensions through the Being of Water. These portals are among the oldest forms of passage used by the Hermonians and other ancient races, enabling journeys across space – and perhaps even through time.

They are bound to the power of nature, technology, and magical rituals.

Beneath a thin layer of dark water, swirling Nebulae of Being pulse, forming a gateway between worlds.

Fire Time-Space Portals

Portals where the Being of Fire links a dimension to the infinite power of Chaos and destruction.

In ancient times, Mages of Being used them to communicate with other time-space dimensions.

They were gateways to unknown worlds, brimming with power – but also peril.

At present, no known sentient being is capable of using these extraordinary creations of Nature.

Seventh Planet

The planet to which the Great Mage Merlin and the people who followed him managed to arrive many centuries ago.

They settled this life-giving place with the hope that humankind would live there in peace and balance.

After many centuries of reign upon the Seventh Planet, humanity met with Apocalypse. It came as the result of the rebellion of artificial beings created in human laboratories: the Mrons and the Harpies.

Earth

One of the oldest planets in the All-Things Universe.

Today it is inhabited mainly by Humans and Hermonians. Other beings may still be encountered, but they live deeply hidden, out of fear of Humans.

Earth is the birthplace of the Great Mage Merlin.

It holds a pivotal place in the history of the All-Things. Perhaps it is on this very planet that the decisive battle for the future of humankind and the Nature of the All-Things will be fought.

Faron

Faron – the green pearl among the stars. Since ancient times, the rulers of this planet were the Faronians – beings of great technological power, mind, and spirit.

The ancient Faronians came to Earth, where humans mistook them for gods. In truth, they were conquerors, treating the planet as a cosmic farmland. They established strongholds in Mesopotamia and Egypt, making humans their servants.

When their power waned and Faron began to wither, they carried away thousands of Earthlings. There, on their homeworld, they held them in submission for centuries.

Until came the time of the Great Rebellion, which ended the rule of the Faronians. From that day, Faron became a world of humans.

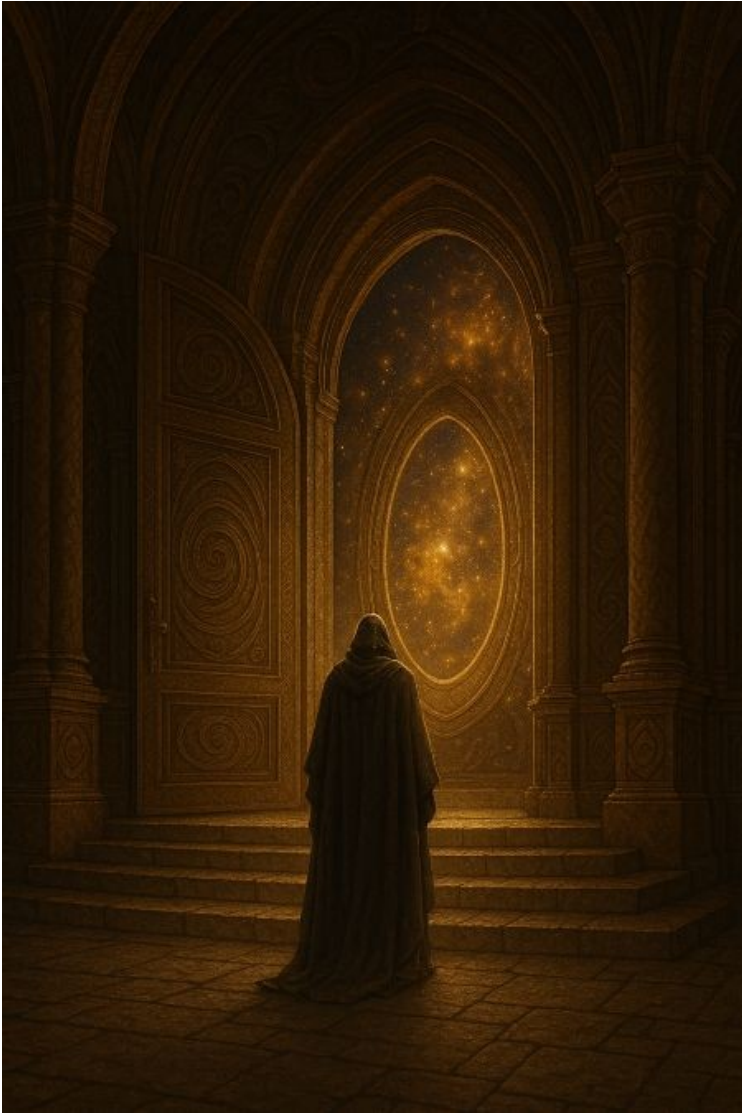

Ethrem Palace – Righteous Enclave

The Ethrem Palace is located within the Abyss of Being's Resonance – a region of the All-Things Universe where the echoes of arising and dying worlds weave into a resonant symphony of infinity.

It is the seat of the Skryptius Righteous – the chroniclers working directly for the Gods of All-Things.

The words recorded here embrace the past, the present state, and carry echoes into the future.

Chronicle Sanctum

A chamber that begins but never ends. It is located in the Ethrem Palace. Here the Righteous Skryptiuses inscribe history into the Chronicles.

The Chronicle Sanctum is a place where silence weighs more than even the loudest sounds.

A monumental table of dark, ethereal wood stretches across the center of the hall, its surface gleaming like polished obsidian.

The Skryptius Righteous sit upon thronelike chairs around this table.

Shadow Zone

The Shadow Zone is a place on Earth full of mysteries, existing both within – and alongside – human reality.

In the Shadow Zone, time seems to slow down, and space intertwines with nature, magic, and the ancient wisdom called technology.

It is a realm that brings one into a deep state of meditation, spiritual growth, and self-discovery.

The Shadow Zone is also home to ancient sentient beings – the Hermonians.

Here they withdrew, to conceal their existence from the eyes of Humans.

SKRYPT 5 TYPES OF SENTIENT BEINGS

Skryptius Righteous

Kartolians

Star-Eaters

Hermonians

Humans

Harpies

Mrons

Skryptius Righteous

Ancient chroniclers who inscribe the destinies of the universe, of magic, technology, and living beings.

Their role is to neutrally record history as it continually changes, and to pass on knowledge to future generations.

The Skryptiuses have access to immense power in writing history, yet they are forbidden to interfere with the fates of the elements of the All-Things Universe.

Their seat lies in the Ethrem Palace, though they may also be encountered in those realms of the All-Things Universe that themselves form the Chronicles.

By decree of the Gods of All-Things, the Skryptius Righteous were established as beings untouchable by other living forms.

Their Being may be broken only by the Gods of All-Things.

Kartolians

also known as

Mages of Time-Space

The Kartolians are an ancient race of sentient beings dwelling in the interdimensional expanse.

The Mages of Time-Space wield advanced technology, and they build their dwellings in symbiosis with the Star-Eaters.

Their origin and disappearance remain profound mysteries.

They possessed unique abilities: manipulation of time and of space itself.

Legend tells that they alone, in the entire All-Things Universe, were able to discover and effectively use the Fire Portals.

No other race ever came close to matching this capability.

Kartolians are also known for existing solely in their innate feminine form.

Star-Eaters

A nomadic race – gigantic sentient beings who traverse galaxies, searching for new worlds to inhabit.

They are distinguished by their extraordinary ability to adapt to diverse environmental conditions.

Star-Eaters are regarded as grandmasters in manipulating the energy of the Cosmic Breath. From ancient times, they coexisted closely with the Kartolians, who built their civilizations upon the backs of these colossi.

Hermonians

Bipedal and two-handed sentient beings. They appear almost identical to Humans, but lack most of the human weaknesses. They are guided by reason, intellect, and the natural laws inscribed in the ancient book: Natural Being Principles.

Since prehistoric times, they inhabited Earth, guarding its natural balance. In times of threat, they stood as its defenders, repelling cosmic invaders on numerous occasions.

Their origin remains uncertain.

Some claim they were created through the intervention of the Gods of All-Things, while others argue that Hermonians arose in parallel with the Gods themselves.

Humans

Bipedal and two-handed sentient beings. They were created through the intervention of the Gods of All-Things.

Over many centuries, different branches of humankind came to dominate several planets, including:

- Earth, in the Solar System,
- the Seventh Planet, in the Keron System,
- Faron, in the Ancient System,
- Paradise, in the Main System.

Yet this is likely not a complete list of worlds colonized by Humans.

Humans possess a strong reproductive capacity, which has undoubtedly contributed to their dominance in some regions of the All-Things Universe.

Harpies

An artificial race. Bipedal, two-handed sentient beings bearing a pair of small wings upon their backs, their appearance otherwise resembling the Human race.

They are somewhat taller than Humans, with humanlike – though very “cold” – facial features. Their heads are slightly flattened and elongated vertically.

They were created on the Seventh Planet of the Keron System through genetic experiments – a failed attempt at creating a sub-human. Initially bred as experimental beings, they eventually escaped from the laboratory compounds.

By allying themselves with the Mrons, the Harpies brought about the end of Human rule on the Seventh Planet of the Keron System.

Mrons

An artificial race. Tripedal and three-handed sentient beings, very strong physically, their appearance somewhat reminiscent of Humans.

Mrons are hybrids – bred mainly from beasts of burden and, most likely, from Humans. They originated on the Seventh Planet of the Keron System.

For many years they served Humans as cheap labor – so-called intelligent domestic animals. Through their alliance with the Harpies, the Mrons brought an end to Human dominion on the Seventh Planet of the Keron System.

GUARDIANS AND

LINEAGES

Shadow of Ancient Wisdom

Dforowians

Skryptius Natives

Shadow of Ancient Wisdom

By many Hermonians, Princess Sirilla is referred to as the Shadow of Ancient Wisdom. Most likely because she oversees the mystical domain bearing the same name: the Shadow of Ancient Wisdom.

This Shadow reaches back to the knowledge of the prime beings who, at the dawn of the PraBeing, once lived upon Earth.

Dforowians

also known as

Human Mages

A human race that, for centuries, developed both natural and technological abilities. Though bound to the magic of nature, their technological advancement allowed them to reach a level nearly equal to the Hermonians.

Dforowians are beings who walk the edge between the world of nature and the world of technology.

Often they do so without conscious intent, and sometimes even against their own knowledge or will.

Extraordinary abilities pass down in their lineage only to a single heir, at the very moment of their ancestor's death.

Skryptius Natives

“One per planet. Chosen. Not created – but called.”

The Skryptius Natives are chroniclers fewer in number than the Skryptius Righteous. They are never born among the Skryptiuses. Instead, they are beings of other races – humans, mages, cyborgs, and sometimes perhaps even Harpies.

They are “awakened” by the Gods of All-Things at the moment when a given world approaches a turning point.

Their task is not mere inscription – they are living channels of All-Divine knowledge.

Their quills, tongues, and fingers tremble with truths that must be uttered, even when no one is there to listen.

Epilogue

The CyberBeing Saga does not end with the closing of this book.

What you have just read is only the beginning of the journey – the first step toward the infinite All-Things Universe.

Ahead of you lie more Chronicles and Books, which will unveil new secrets: from ancient artifacts and beings to the history of humanity stretched between magic, technology, and cybernetic Being.

Already now you can reach for:

- Chronicle 1 – All-Things Universe () - a guide to the foundations of the universe,
- Book 1 – Seventh Planet (buy: www.poswojsku.eu/gift.html) - the story of humanity's Apocalypse on the planet Keron and the escape of Astilus ,
- Book 2 – Earth (buy: www.poswojsku.eu/gift.html) - the further fate of the hero and the new struggles that will decide the future of humankind and the Nature of the All-Things.

On the following pages, you'll find fairly large excerpts from Chronicle 1, Book 1 – and on the website poswojsku.eu, even more extensive ones :).

These works are available in many popular online bookstores.

Detailed information about where to purchase them, as well as possibilities of support, can be found on the project's page:  poswojsku.eu/dar.html

Apocalypse Alert

Instability within the Matrix of All-Being

An alarm reverberated through the Hall of Knowledge. Skryptius Righteous XIII raised his gaze, observing chaotic projections on the screens – images from the distant galaxy Earth, swirling spacetime anomalies tearing at reality like digital fractures.

“What is happening, Master?” asked a young disciple, Skryptius XLVII, accompanying him in the Hall. His eyes were wide with both fear and fascination.

The Master did not answer immediately. His hand rested upon a nano-infused quill, pulsing with a gentle light that mirrored the chaotic displays on the screens. “Instability within the Matrix of All-Being,” he said softly, his voice echoing in the stone chamber. “Something is attempting to unravel the local nanoWeave of Being.”

The disciple looked at his Master questioningly. “Here?” he inquired.

Skryptius XIII turned and gestured towards a holographic model of the Earth galaxy suspended in the air. “There! On the planet Earth, the boundaries between dimensions are thinning. Past, present, and future may begin to intertwine into a single knot.”

“What does that mean?” Skryptius XLVII was visibly concerned.

The Master sighed. "Sometimes cosmic events defy logic. Sometimes... they simply are. Especially when dealing with species possessing the intelligence of Humans." After a moment he added:

"It appears another apocalypse is brewing, counting events on the Seventh Planet, this will be the second within this century."

Then, a voice resonated throughout the Hall – deep and resonant, vibrating in their very bones.

"Skryptius XIII," the voice intoned. "Your intervention is required."

A figure appeared on the main screen – a tall, ethereal being with a face veiled in the shadow of a hood. It was Skryptius III, one of the oldest and most experienced chroniclers of the Cosmos, known for his merits as: ArchiSkryptius.

"Skryptius III," replied Skryptius XIII, bowing respectfully. "What precisely has occurred?"

“The anomaly on Earth is growing. If left unchecked, it could destabilize the entire Matrix of All-Being. You know what must be done?”

Skryptius looked at Skryptius XLVII, sighed heavily, and said:

"It seems I must journey to The Chronicle Sanctum within Ethrem Palace. And there awaits me a meditative voyage... and a meeting. Come with me."

SEVENTH PLANET

– PROLOGUE

The Apocalypse of Humanity

Transmission from orbital satellites continued to reach emergency channels. The signal—interfered with by magnetic storms and remnants of cybernetic defense systems—illuminated holographic monitors with a crimson warning:

[LAST TRANSMISSION – CODE 13-DELTA]

STATUS OF HUMANITY: EXTINCTION IN PROGRESS

The Bright Star of the Seventh Planet—designated in ancient records as Keron-Betax13—rose lazily over the wind-torn battlefield.

Plts rays illuminated smoking wrecks of transporters and clouds of synthetic defense mist.

The air was thick with the scent of burnt flesh, ozone, and heated polymer.

The air grew warmer, heralding a calm, warm afternoon. And the valley once known as Southern Eden was now a digital field of human extermination.

On tactical support screens, red icons flashed:
HUMAN BIO-SIGNALS – FADING.

If it weren't for the agonized chorus of human voices, one could believe that everything around is merely a projection—another simulation in the Genetic Laboratories.

Standing atop an armored rise was Farosna—Great Warlord of the Mrones, clad in black biochitinous armor with an integrated combat interface.

A third arm rested on the plasma rifle's barrel, while the other two operated the tactical visor and drone swarm controller.

Data lines flashed across his helmet:

[ENEMY STATUS: 1.8% ACTIVE FORCES REMAINING]

[RECOMMENDATION: ELIMINATE REMNANTS]

Farosna did not smile. Coldly, he scanned the panorama of devastation.

Hundreds of human bodies in combat suits lay in grotesque poses. Some still attempted to activate personal shields—in vain.

The energy within their plasma cores had long since depleted.

Behind the Mrones' warlord, units waited silently. Their thirteen-legged armors leaned against armored spurs. Each warrior was connected to the Central Command System – ARANCHID V.77, which monitored tactics and morale.

Should any of the Mrones hesitate—a control signal would disable their movement systems.

Far above the battlefield, Harpies soared into the air. Their organic-mechanical wings unfolded like segments of transport drones.

Skin, stitched from synthetic fibers and animal membranes, shimmered with a metallic purple hue.

Around their heads flickered diodes—personal extermination recorders.

On one of the transmission channels appeared the signal from Torwa – Harpy Chieftain:

[SECURE CHANNEL]

TORWA: Congratulations, Farosna. Their time has ended.

Farosna raised his third arm and clenched it in a slow gesture of acceptance.

“They deserved their end,” he replied. “But even this moment reeks of betrayal and pride.”

Torwa nodded.

Everything here was merely a transaction: the Harpies had delivered the Energy Bands in exchange for the right to human bodies.

Energy Bands—a marvel of technology: generators of the Protective Fire Ellipse (PFE), impervious to any projectile or plasma beam.

In the final hours of the war, human armies blindly fired from orbital launchers until they exhausted their energy reserves.

Nothing could breach this shield.

Farosna lowered his visor.

He recorded the following entry in his personal log:

[DAY 3459 - ANOTHER SPECIES
STRICKEN FROM THE REGISTER OF RULERS]

Beside Farosna approached Gorej—Torwa’s lieutenant, with a cybernetic eye that glowed with scanning green light.

“We want their bodies,” he announced. “According to the agreement.”

Farosna nodded.

“Take them.”

He knew that the Harpies fed not only on flesh but also on memories they could extract from human brains.

It was the greatest shame—the humans’ past devoured by those they called beasts.

The Harpies began soaring over the valley, plucking bodies like predators from another reality.

Farosna turned away.

He gave the order to retreat.

Columns of thirteen-legged warriors activated their cloaking and synchronization systems.

As they marched, their steps pulsed in rhythm with digital drums.

The Mrones' engineers launched a victory transmission on all tactical channels:

[TRANSMISSION 0-ALPHA]

THE ERA OF HUMANS ON THE SEVENTH PLANET – TERMINATED

Thus ended the world of humans—the last system of their dominance erased from the records of All-Things.

MRONES AND HARPIES ARMAMENT - KEY COMPONENTS

Energy Bands (OEO-9G)

Portable shield generator—generates a Protective Fire Ellipse.

Operational time: up to 6 hours.

Resistance: 99.9% against all known kinetic and plasma weapon systems.

Backlash effect – annihilation of unprotected organisms within a radius of 15 meters.

Ellipsoidal Projectiles (KE-77-Virus)

Type of pulse weapon.

Upon contact with the ground, they emit a wave of lethal rays for any being with an active neurological field.

Range: from 10 to 100 meters.

GUIDES

Your Safety in the World of Cyber and Artificial Intelligence – Part 1: Introduction

A comprehensive entry into the field of data protection, privacy, and safe use of the internet. This book is for those who want to quickly understand the most important threats and how to start defending against them effectively – without complicated jargon.

You'll find real-life examples and simple step-by-step instructions.

Your Safety in the World of Cyber and Artificial Intelligence – Part 2: Cyber Hygiene

A practical guide to everyday habits that significantly increase your security.

You'll learn how to create strong passwords, protect your devices, detect fraud attempts, and prepare your family for digital threats.

A must-have if you want cyber hygiene to become a natural part of your life.

Your Safety in the World of Cyber and Artificial Intelligence – Part 3: Your Child and You

A guide created especially for parents and guardians who want to introduce children to the digital world with wisdom and calm.

Here you'll find not only rules and recommendations but also ready-to-use conversation methods and trust-building strategies.

This book will help you protect the youngest ones without fearmongering or excessive control.

AI in Education – Part 1: A Practical Guide Not Only for Teachers

Artificial intelligence is not just a trend, but a real tool that can improve learning and work.

In this book, I show how to use AI in a simple way – from generating content, through supporting creativity, to automating daily tasks. Perfect for educators and anyone who wants to explore the basics of modern technologies.

AI in Education – Part 2: Practical Ideas for Creative Learning

The continuation of Part 1 – full of inspiration, lesson scenarios, and exercises. You'll learn how to conduct workshops and classes that combine AI with developing digital skills, logical thinking, and creative approaches to learning. An excellent choice for everyone seeking concrete tools and ready-to-use solutions.

Create a Mobile Game

A practical guide for anyone dreaming of creating their own smartphone game.

From the absolute basics of programming in JavaScript and React Native, through game design, all the way to publishing your game.

If you want to learn coding in an engaging and tangible way, this book will be your guidepost.

Natural Being Principles – Vol. I: Seventh Planet

A science fiction novel for those who want to escape daily life and immerse themselves in a reflective story about the meaning of existence, freedom, and relationships in the face of change. It is a tale of humans and technology, of choices and consequences – for readers who value deeper messages and an original atmosphere.
